

SECRET

EXCISE

41
E.B.E.D

DECLASSIFIED

Time-Life had a blow-out at the Waldorf Astoria last week, attended by Bob, having as guests of honor the men who ~~was~~ appeared on the covers of Time last year. Next week their directors will meet in London.

I went from there to the funeral service for Per Jacobbson, at the Swedish Church. The presiding clergyman conducted the services ~~very~~ well.

Afterwards, while waiting for the car, I picked up a fine Tournai dish, and three pieces of Worcester, Queen Charlotte pattern, in an adjoining antique shop.

Guillaume Guindey rode back to the office with DEPART

REVIEWED BY

RELO

DATE: 6-11-51

PORTIONS DENIED AS INDICATED

J. Edward Day, the Postmaster General, came to see me this afternoon. He was with the Prudential Insurance Company in California. He is a live wire, and with his two/assistant Postmaster Generals and his Inspector has been doing a whirlwind trip on the continent before coming here. He says the Lobby in favor of the maintenance of low priced third class mail rates at home shows little signs of being brought under control. He feels our Postal Service is starving for lack of sufficient funds, although there was an increase of 600 million dollars in last year's appropriations. He worked in the Illinois Administration when Stevenson was Governor, and is a close friend of Adlai. I thought he had an engaging personality.

Afterwards, I went to be sluiced down by Miss MacInnes, the Scottish masseuse. Tonight, I took E and Nicky to dine at the Trader Vic restaurant at the new Hilton Hotel.

DECLASSIFIED